

BOTSWANA

- * Since independence, Botswana has had the fastest per capita income growth in the world.
- * Economic growth averaged over 9% per year 1966-1999. GDP per capita quadrupled to nearly $5000 by 2004.
- * Botswana maintains sound fiscal policy and negligible foreign debt.
- * Botswana has wisely used diamond revenues to fund economic development.
- * According to Transparency International, Botswana is the least corrupt country in Africa.
- * The World Economic Forum rates Botswana as one of the two most competitive nations in Africa.

