1. Defeat the Terrorists and Neutralize the Insurgents

Sectarian violence in Baghdad has decreased since the beginning of Fardh al-Qanun as Coalition forces have moved off of large Forward Operating Bases and into smaller community-based combat outposts in order to better protect the Iraqi population.

2. Transition Iraq to Security Self-Reliance

Under a $220 million acquisition plan, the Iraqi Navy will soon add 21 vessels to its fleet, taking it another step closer to operational independence. The navy force will also expand from its current 1,200 personnel to 2,000-2,500 by 2010. Additionally, Iraqi naval installations are undergoing $180 million in modernization and infrastructure improvement efforts to build roads, utilities and barracks, in addition to the reconstruction of piers to support the incoming vessels.

3. Help Iraqis to Forge a National Compact for Democratic Government

Saddam Hussein's former deputy, Taha Yassin Ramadan, was hanged before dawn March 20, the fourth man to be executed in the killings of 148 Shiites following a 1982 assassination attempt against Saddam in the town of Dujail.

4. Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services

The construction of the US Army-funded CERP5/Saqliwiah float bridge road in Habbaniyah, al-Anbar province has been completed, providing increased traffic ability and reliable access to school, work, and other activities for 69,000 local residents.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

5. Help Iraq Strengthen Its Economy

Official Iraqi statistics show an overall price decline of 6.8% from January to February. Year-on-year prices were up 37.1% (a sharp decline from January's year-on-year rate of 66.4%). Core inflation (which excludes fuel and transport prices) was down 1.2% in February, with year-on-year inflation at 23.7%, down from 30.7% in January. It is too early to say that inflation is under control, but this may be a positive first step.

6. Help Iraq Strengthen the Rule of Law

The Central Criminal Court of Iraq convicted 23 individuals March 2-10 for violations of the Iraqi Terrorist Law, Residence Law, Penal Code, and Coalition Provisional Authority Orders enforced by the Iraqi judiciary.

7. International Support for Iraq

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-Moon applauded a meeting held in New York regarding the International Compact with Iraq March 16, claiming it served "to bring the larger international community together to consider how best to support the people of Iraq under the Compact" which will "focus on Iraq's long-term economic development, while also stressing progress in the political and security fields, through a mutually reinforcing relationship."

8. Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents

During a television interview March 19, Iraqi Prime Minister Maliki insisted that sectarian violence in his country had ended and blamed the ongoing violence on al-Qaida, which he said posed the "biggest threat" to both Iraq and the Middle East.

[1.] Defeat the Terrorists and Neutralize the Insurgency

Fardh al-Qanun Lowers Violence in Northwest Baghdad:

- Sectarian violence in Baghdad has decreased since the beginning of Fardh al-Qanun, as Coalition forces have moved off of large Forward Operating Bases and into smaller, community-based combat outposts in order to better protect the Iraqi population.
 - According to Colonel J.B. Burton, the commander of the 2nd Brigade Combat Team, 1st Infantry Division, his Brigade has seen a significant drop in violence over the past few months in the northwest Baghdad neighborhoods of Shula and Kadhimiya.
 - There, murders are down from 141 in January to 63 in February to 16 in March as of March 18. However, the area has seen an increase in car bombs targeting Shiite gathering places, as Sunni extremists and terrorists attempt to counter the security operations and incite sectarian violence.
 - Although overall violence has decreased, Colonel Burton stressed that it is still too early to judge success, and that there are still months of difficult work ahead. As other commanders have stated, Fardh al-Qanun is a long-term operation that will require continued patience as security efforts work to enable political solutions.

Troop Surge to Total 28,000:

- The Department of Defense announced March 16 that the total number of U.S. troops who will be part of the “surge” in Iraq will be about 28,000, adding an additional 7,500 support troops to the initial 21,500, making up five Brigade Combat Teams.

[2.] Transition to Security Self-Reliance – Iraqi Security Forces

Iraq Navy on Its Way to Independence:

- Under a $220 million acquisition plan, the Iraqi Navy will soon add 21 vessels to its fleet, taking it another step closer to operational independence.
 - By 2010, 15 patrol boats, four patrol ships from Italy, and two off-shore support vessels will be added to the current fleet of fast attack boats and Predator-class ships.
 - The navy force will also expand from its current 1,200 personnel to 2,000-2,500 by 2010.
- Iraqi naval installations are also undergoing $180 million in modernization and infrastructure improvement efforts to build roads, utilities and barracks, in addition to the reconstruction of piers to support the incoming vessels.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Daily Electricity Supplied and Estimated Demand in Iraq Since January 2004

Electricity:

- The Bayji to Baghdad West #1 400 KV line remains down, with damage to 19 towers. The Ministry had several crews at the repair sites. The downed line resulted in limited power transfer from the north to the Baghdad Loop. A small amount of power is still being transferred from the north on the 132 KV grid, but more substantial transfers have occurred on only two days since December 27.
- The Ministry of Electricity reported that the Khur Zubayr to Hartha 400 KV line tripped offline March 2. The line was reported back in service March 5. On March 7, the Ministry reported the Bayji to Mosul #2 400 KV line was off due to unknown reasons. The line was later returned to service.

Transportation:

- The construction of the US Army-funded CERP5/Saqliwiah float bridge road in Habbaniyah, al-Anbar province has been completed, providing increased traffic ability and reliable access to school, work, and other activities for 69,000 local residents.

[5.] Help Iraq Strengthen Its Economy - Banking Sector

Central Bank's US Dollar (USD) Currency Auction:

- The following table shows volume sold of and exchange rates for USD in the Iraqi currency auction since April. Since September, the Central Bank has slowly appreciated the dinar, as suggested by the IMF, in an effort to rein in galloping inflation. There are early signs that this effort may have begun to bear fruit, with prices falling 6.8% between January and February.

Central Bank of Iraq

- The Central Criminal Court of Iraq (CCCI) convicted 23 individuals March 2-10 for violations of the Iraqi Terrorist Law, Residence Law, Penal Code, and Coalition Provisional Authority (CPA) Orders enforced by the Iraqi judiciary. Crimes included joining an armed group to unsettle the stability and security of Iraq, possession of illegal weapons, and the illegal use of legal documents.
- The trial court sentenced an Iraqi man to death for violation of Iraq’s terrorist law. The convicted man entered the al-Habaiyah police station disguised in an Iraqi police uniform August 6, 2006. During an entry search, he struggled with Iraqi police and shot an Iraqi police officer. After being shot in the leg by an Iraqi policeman, the convicted man was subdued and searched, and Iraqi police discovered he was wearing a vest full of explosives. The Iraqi police turned him over to Coalition Forces (CF) for detention until his conviction at CCCI March 6.
- Since its establishment under an amendment to CPA Order 13, in April 2004, the Central Criminal Court has held 1,942 trials for suspected criminals apprehended by CF. The Iraqi Court proceedings have resulted in the conviction of 1,681 individuals with sentences ranging from imprisonment to death.

[7.] Increase International Support for Iraq – Developments

UNSG Praises International Compact with Iraq Meeting in New York:

- UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-Moon applauded a meeting held in New York regarding the International Compact with Iraq March 16, claiming it served “to bring the larger international community together to consider how best to support the people of Iraq under the Compact” which will “focus on Iraq's long-term economic development, while also stressing progress in the political and security fields, through a mutually reinforcing relationship.”
- There was almost unanimous support among Preparatory Group members for a high-level Ministerial launch of the Compact as soon as possible. Of particular significance, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia reiterated their support for the Compact process; the Saudis signaled a willingness to move toward Paris Club terms of debt relief.

Japan Extends Air Mission in Iraq:

- Japan plans to extend a law allowing its air force to fly support missions to Iraq for another two years, Prime Minister Shinzo Abe said March 20. “We would like to continue to fulfill our responsibility,” he said. The legislation is expected to pass, given the ruling coalition's majority in parliament.

[7.] Increase International Support for Iraq – Developments

IRFFI Donor Committee Meeting Concludes Successfully:

- The International Reconstruction Fund Facility for Iraq (IRFFI) Donor Committee Meeting, which was hosted by the government of Turkey, concluded successfully March 21, with strong resolve from the international donor community, the United Nations and the World Bank to continue advancing Iraqi leadership on reconstruction efforts. They reaffirmed their support for IRFFI, which should remain an important vehicle for donors to support the implementation of the International Compact with Iraq.
- The next Donor Committee meeting will be held in the fall of this year.

Iraqi Prime Minister Insists Sectarian Violence has Ended:

- During a television interview March 19, Iraqi Prime Minister Maliki insisted that sectarian violence in his country had ended and blamed the ongoing violence on al-Qaida, which he said posed the “biggest threat” to both Iraq and the Middle East.

Islamic Organization Calls for Release of German Hostages:

- In an interview published March 18, the Islamic Council for Germany called for the immediate release of two German citizens abducted in Iraq. In a video broadcast, the president of Germany also called for the release of the abducted citizens, as did Iraq’s Sunni Vice President, Tariq al-Hashimi.

To date, national electricity supply for 2007 is only one percent below 2006. Because demand is increasing, however, the relative decline in national hours of power is much larger: an average of 8.9 hours for January 1-March 14, 2007, compared with an average of 10.5 hours for the same period in 2006.
